Japanese Children's Day

On Friday, May 11th, 2012, we will be celebrating Japanese Children's day, where some of the parents will be demonstrating how to make a popular Japanese snack called Shiratamako, or more commonly known as Mochi. After the demonstration, parents and children are welcome to have a taste of these treats. If you would like to participate, please let us know beforehand via email, telephone or visiting our office so that we can make the appropriate preparations. We will be inviting several guests, therefore it is essential that we know who will be attending.
